Good communication is good for your health.

Just like veggies are essential to good health, open communication with your healthcare providers is critical to receiving safe care.
Good communication is good for your health.

Just like physical activity is essential to good health, open communication with your healthcare providers is critical to receiving safe care.
Good communication is good for your health.

Just like companionship is essential to good health, open communication with your healthcare providers is critical to receiving safe care.